From a lost city consumed by Tauré

The citizens of Tauré have nothing to do with that, i always stay out of politics

Politics decides upon your health, your education, your source of income, your life, does ignoring it seems logical to you just because you don't like it? It is the end of the world

Everyone will die
There is no hope

And during a bad guard turn, guttural voices filled Vixi with dread

Abril, Nulmes, wake up! There is
